6th ANNUAL CONSTRUCTION EXPO AT ST. PAUL SEES BIG TURNOUT

It sounds like a broken record, but more than 250 students and adults attended the Annual Construction Expo sponsored by CISCO and St. Paul Community Development Ministries (SPCDM) last week in Chicago.

Named "Step Up To Opportunity," the six-year event was sponsored by the Chicago Federation of Labor, the Chicago & Cook County Building Trades, Plumbers Local 130, W.E. O'Neil and the Hill Group.

These entities joined forces to showcase careers in the construction industry. There were 16 building trades present staffed by apprenticeship coordinators/instructors who provided information about applying to the apprentice programs. Some trades also provided hands-on demonstrations at their booths to give attendees an idea about day-to-day work techniques.

"The success of this event can be measured by the numbers of men and women who are not only becoming aware of the union construction apprentice programs, but who are also taking the next steps to apply and gain entry into one of these career opportunities," said CISCO Executive Director Dan Allen.

"We need to continue to promote how open and accessible the union trades are to both minorities and women," he added.

To learn more about the skilled union trades, contact Johnetta Ryan, CISCO's Education-to-Careers Director at (630) 472-9411. (Cont. on pg. 2)

ST. PAUL CAREER READINESS PROGRAM IN THE SPOTLIGHT (Continued from front page)

During last week's program, St. Paul Pastor Kevin Ford introduced several speakers including CISCO's Executive Director Dan Allen, CISCO's

Education-to-Careers Director Johnetta Ryan and Judy Frydland, Building Commissioner for the City of Chicago, among others.

Johnetta Ryan thanked all of the Apprenticeship Coordinators and Instructors who were present (see photo below), and Dan Allen spoke of the opportunity that is available to anyone who is looking for another career option.

"As you've heard from the former students who just spoke, this opportunity in the union trades can be life changing for you," he said. "But you have to want it, and you have to work hard to be successful."

The group of five former students that he was referring to each spoke to the audience about their individual experiences.

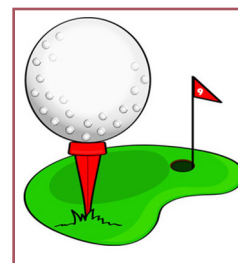

St. Paul Pastor Kevin Ford introduces five recent graduates who have all been accepted into union apprenticeship programs.

One of the past students, Austin Armstrong, who is now an apprentice with Tile Setters Local 21, spoke to both the current class of students and to those in the audience who are prospective students.

"You are all in the right place. Keep doing what you are doing. It is worth it. Your positives will be accentuated and your negatives will be minimized. If you have any interest in construction and changing your life, this is the perfect opportunity."
